New UBS Arena

UBS Arena opened its doors on November 20, 2021 for the NY Islanders first home game at the new arena. This was a huge project for Local 25 with over 400 Local 25 members and travelers working on this project. On September 29th, the Business Reps, President Guadagno, and myself went out to the job. We brought a bunch of six-foot heroes, salads, and drinks to show our appreciation to everyone for a job well done. Everyone had a nice lunch, as you will see from the pictures in the centerfold in this Conduit. This project was the biggest job Local 25 has done since the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant that was built in the 1970's.

BUSINESS MANAGER'S REPORT

BY KEVIN B. CASEY

Sisters and Brothers,

As I sit here and write this article for the Conduit, it is the end of January. I hope everyone had a nice and safe holiday season. Employment is still strong for this time of year. We still have around fifty travelers working in the jurisdiction. That number should increase by the spring. The solar farm in Calverton has just started to hire manpower this past week and should continue for the next couple of months. Plenty of big hospital work has started or will start this year: Northwell Manhasset, 350-million-dollar project at Good Samaritan, Southside, Winthrop, and by the end of the year a brand-new hospital in Southampton should start to break ground. Plus, lots of Amazon work, lots of work at Brookhaven Lab, and the second phase of Ronkonkoma Hub is getting ready to break ground.

With the increase in manhours the last couple of years, the General Fund has been doing really well. With that the Bylaw Committee met earlier in the month to discuss a change to the Bylaws to lower the union dues. At the January Union Meeting, Bylaw Committee Chairman Rich DeGrauw read the proposed Bylaw changes. A mailing was sent out last week to the membership with the proposed changes. The Bylaw changes will be discussed and voted on at the February Union Meeting. This will be the second dues decrease in the last two years. In April of 2020 we had a half percent reduction in the dues.

I am happy to announce that in December Local 25 won a jurisdictional grievance at the National Building Trades down in Washington, DC. The grievance was against the Laborers Local 1298, regarding the handling and installation of the Third Rail on the Long Island Railroad Third Track Project. I would like to thank everyone that helped with this win, especially the retirees that wrote affidavits and gave us pictures of jobs they were on in the 1970's and 1980's that showed the arbitrator that Local 25 had the past practice of installing the third rail. Many of the retirees that I spoke with have been retired for 20 to 30 years, but they remembered so many specific details of those jobs from many years ago. This was a real team effort win for Local 25, and once again I'd like to thank everyone that helped.

The "A" Construction and CE/CW Contract will be expiring at the end of April 2022. A letter will be going out in the mail very soon for some Round Table Meetings to discuss the upcoming contracts with the membership.

This spring is going to be extremely busy here in the Business Office. With the NYC Long Island Building Trades Conference in March, the IBEW Construction Maintenance Conference and National Building Trades Conference in April and the 40th IBEW International Convention in May 2022. I will report on these conferences at the union meetings and in future Conduit articles.

Brothers and Sisters, this ends my report for this edition of the Conduit. Remember to work safe, turn off energized circuits, and always remember to stick together out there.

Shut it Off

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

BY JOHN GUADAGNO

I begin my article for this edition of the Conduit with heartfelt thanks to all the volunteers that helped make this holiday season so special. The Christmas Committee, EWMC Committee, and Amber Light Society Women's Committee, along with everyone else that volunteered did a great job. Thank you, from the entire membership of Local 25. As we start our march through 2022, I remind all the members of the need for involvement here at our hall. There are many committees and situations that require volunteers.

This year will be a very important election year for all involved in labor, not to mention the "A" Construction, CW/CE and Residential Agreements will be up for renegotiation. Please attend a round table meeting to express your wants and needs for the new contract. Letters will be going out to notify everyone of the dates and times.

Finally, I would like to discuss the importance of buying goods "made in America." Besides the individual jobs created by manufacturing in this country, we must consider the spin-off of jobs and the economic effect of removing people from unemployment. It's easy to talk about spin-off jobs when it comes to construction. Building new plants or renovating existing plants means more construction work here in the good old USA. Certainly, we can all visualize how vibrant our local economy would be if some of the many vacant buildings were being occupied. Taking the time to look for and buy American-made is a very important way of investing in the future of America. When out shopping, please think of the bumper sticker "BUY AMERICAN...THE JOB YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN!".

Enjoy the winter weather and work safely until we meet again.

Committee Corner

C.O.P.E. (Committee On Political Education)

Brothers and Sisters,

It is a new year. Last year was full of employment, many jobs including the Third Track expansion, the new Islander Stadium in Belmont and many more. A year of prosperity for our Local Union, our families and ourselves. We have also had some members retire and some members pass away. They will be missed. Each year brings new opportunities. If you like the way things are going, come down and get involved in our Local Committees. If you do not like the way things are going, come down and get involved in our Local Committees.

Unions as a whole did well this year. We have some of the highest approval ratings nationally in terms of people wanting to join a union, especially in amongst with all of the millennials. The infrastructure bill was passed, and this will bring jobs to rebuild our crumbling infrastructure and rebuild America. This will take time and have to be watched over the for years to come. Different administrations are watching over the funds and seeing how they are going to be distributed.

Wish for you all a happy and healthy new year and hope it is exactly what you want it to be.

NEC CODE CORNER

This month we will examine Article 220, Part II, Branch Circuit Load Calculations. Section 220.14(J) Dwelling Units, has been revised to include new section 220.11, Floor area; revised section 220.12 Lighting Load for Non-Dwelling Occupancies and revised Table 220.12 General Lighting Loads by Non-Dwelling Occupancy. The National Fire Protection Association created a task group to identify areas where improvements in the reduction of energy use have not been changed in the NEC. The primary focus of the NEC Correlating Committee Energy Task Group was lighting load calculations based on new technology and industry practice. These values have gotten very few revisions since the 1971 edition of the NEC, that is over 50 years ago! The National Electrical Code has specific language concerning many types of installations. Remember to consult the code book for additional information. The Outline and Language of the code is included below. Practice using the Codeology Method to answer all your code challenges.

CHAPTER, ARTICLE, PART and SECTION!

2020 National Electrical Code

Chapter	2 Wiring and Protection
Article	220 Branch-Circuit, Feeder and Service Load Calculations
Part	II. Branch-Circuit Load Calculations
Section	220.14(J) Dwelling Units.

(J) Dwelling Units.

In one-family, two-family, and multifamily dwellings, the minimum unit load shall be not less than 33 volt-amperes/m<sup>2</sup> (3 volt-amperes/ft<sup>2</sup>). The lighting and receptacle outlets specified in 220.14(J)(1), (J)(2), and (J)(3) are included in the minimum unit load. No additional load calculations shall be required for such outlets. The minimum lighting load shall be determined using the minimum unit load and the floor area as determined in 220.11 for dwelling occupancies. Motors rated less than 1/8 hp and connected to a lighting circuit shall be considered part of the minimum lighting load.

- (1) All general-use receptacle outlets of 20-ampere rating or less, including receptacles connected to the circuits in 210.11(C)(3) and 210.11(C)(4)
- (2) The receptacle outlets specified in 210.52(E) and (G)
- (3) The lighting outlets specified in 210.70

So what does this mean?

New section 220.11 Floor Area, contains the relocated second and third sentences from 220.12 in the 2017 NEC. This change allows for the title change in 220.12 Lighting Loads for Non-Dwelling Occupancies in the 2020 NEC, which no longer includes or applies to dwelling occupancies. Additional changes are shown in Table 220.12 General Lighting Loads by Non-Dwelling Occupancy, which was expanded to include 29 non-dwelling occupancies from the previous table in the 2017 edition of the NEC which contained 17 specific occupancies. So, where did Dwelling Units get located? It remains where it has been in the NEC with revisions for the 2020 NEC edition. It is now titled 220.14(J) Dwelling Units. Code language for residential occupancies is found in new section 220.11 and revised section 220.14(J). The 1965 edition of the NEC established the 3 watts per square foot for dwelling occupancies and the 2020 edition of the NEC will continue to require 3 volt-amperes per square foot for dwelling units. The long-lasting NEC calculation of 3.0 VA per square foot for dwelling units, which includes the general purpose receptacle load, has been used effectively for a very long time and reducing this value could have unintended consequences, so the 3.0 VA/Sq. Ft. for dwelling units remains and is located in the revised requirements of 220.14(J) Dwelling Units. The 2020 edition of the National Electrical Code certainly meets the purpose of the code – sensible revisions reflecting advances in technology along with industry practices for the practical safeguarding of persons and property from hazards arising from the use of electricity.
